

A little note about Savannahians.....

If you go to Atlanta, the first question people ask you is, "What's your business?" In Macon, they ask "Where do you go to church?" In Augusta, they ask your grandmother's maiden name. But in Savannah the first question people ask you is "What would you like to drink?"

HISTORIC DISTRICT TROLLEY TOUR AND LUNCH AT THE OLDE PINK HOUSE

This leisurely tour by trolley covers a lot of ground as you explore the city's architectural gems and historic landmarks such as Forsyth Fountain; the beautiful squares laid out by General Oglethorpe, our founder; the Cotton Exchange and River Street. The tour includes two stops along the way. One at the Andrew Low House, an elegantly restored historic house museum and then at the breathtaking 19th century Gothic Cathedral of St. John the Baptist.

The Olde Pink House on Reynolds's Square has an exciting history. James Habersham, Jr. built this stately Georgian mansion in 1771. This wealthy planter's home held many secret meetings, which helped secure the independence of the 13 colonies from England. Today it's an unique restaurant and tavern, serving elegant southern dining in Savannah's only 18th century mansion.
